THE PANAMA CONTROVERSY

SENATE ADOPTS RESOLUTION OF DEMOCRATS

But Adds an Amendment Allowing President to Use His Judgment as to What to Make Public—House Proceedings.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The senate today adopted a resolution introduced by Culberson for the Democratic caucus which calls on the president to state whether the senate has been supplied all facts bearing on the Panama controversy. The vote was unanimous, but there was a roll call on an amendment suggested by Cullom for the Republican side calling for information only in case the president should consider it not incompatible with public interest to supply it. This amendment was adopted, 39 to 20, all Republican senators voting for the amendment, and all Democrats except McNary (who voted with the Republicans) voting against it. There were during the debate frequent assurances that notwithstanding identification all papers bearing on the question would be sent to the senate.

The Culberson inquiry no sooner had been disposed of than the Bacon resolution looking to adjustment of our differences with Colombia by arbitration was considered. Bacon made an extended speech in support of the proposition, holding that even if there was no truth in Colombia's charges the mere fact that charges were made raised an issue which should be met in a conciliatory manner.

HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The house today considered whether members of congress are entitled to be paid mileage a second time. The controversy arose on an item in the urgent deficiency bill providing for two payments of mileage for senators and members of the house on account of the extra session, which merged into the regular session. A point of order was raised by Maddox (Dem., Ga.) against payment of mileage a second time, and he was supported by Littlefield (Rep., Me.), who contended there had been no interruption, and consequently but one session congress, and there is no authority of law for a second appropriation for mileage.

Interest manifested in the question was shown by the fact that there were few empty seats on either side of the chamber when the mileage item was reached. Littlefield received close attention and was pelted with numerous questions as to his interpretation of the law and constitution. Adjournment was taken before a conclusion was reached.

Consideration of an amendment increasing the appropriation for expenses of the district land offices precipitated discussion on the subject of alleged land frauds. Mondell (Rep., Wyo.), author of the amendment, in urging an increase of appropriation, called attention to the increased volume of business.

Robinson (Dem., Ind.) asked if the increased business was not due to fraudulent entries.

Mondell replied he had no knowledge to that effect and said he believed reports of fraud greatly exaggerated by persons in whose interest it is to have such reports circulated.

The provision in the urgent deficiency bill to defray expenses of the international exchange commission and another authorizing consolidation of customs collection districts were stricken out.

PATENT REPORT.

The report of the commissioner of patents for the calendar year 1903 shows the patent business transacted exceeded all previous records. Total cash receipts of the office, $1,616,688, leaving a surplus of $188,000. There were 50,238 patents applied for and 31,699 issued. The report predicts the same increase for the present year and says the patent office since its inception in 1836 has furnished a net balance of $5,823,540 to the government.

SECRETARY TAFT WELCOMED.

Official Washington gave a cordial welcome to night to William H. Taft, the new secretary of war. A reception was given in his honor by retiring Secretary Root. There was a large attendance, including army and navy officers, members of the cabinet, committees on appropriations, military affairs and Philippines, senate and house. The reception was a state affair and there were no speeches, and but one toast was responded to, that by Secretary Root to his successor.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Senator Gorman has called a caucus of Democratic senators for tomorrow. It was announced no general plans were entertained except that a "pow-wow" over the Panama question seemed necessary from a Democratic point of view.

Senator Hoar to day submitted a petition from citizens of New Haven, Conn., praying that before final ratification of the Hay-Buencara Varilla treaty action of the United States may be subjected to careful and deliberate investigation. When this petition had been read Senator Platt of Connecticut offered another petition from more than one hundred business men of New Haven, without distinction of party, justifying the president in recognizing independence of Panama and requesting ratification of the treaty.

TESTIFIES FOR SELF

Iowa Man Accused of Murdering Three Wives Tries to Prove His Innocence.

Eldora, Iowa, Jan. 29.—Eben S. Blydenburgh, accused of murdering three wives, took the stand in his own behalf to day, answering charges that he had poisoned the third wife by administering arsenic in a meal cooked by himself. Blydenburgh told a straightforward story, corroborating the testimony of his daughter Irene, who swore she cooked the meal which the state says contained arsenic administered by the accused man. Blydenburgh denied he had ever purchased rough on rats for any purpose than for that which the poison is generally used. He told of his wife's alleged complaint and stated the family physician pronounced it uremia. He denied they had ever had trouble other than family quarrels of little consequence.

In rebuttal of testimony of physicians called yesterday, by the defense the state placed a number of physicians on the stand to prove that Mrs. Blydenburgh did not die of uremic poisoning as claimed by the defense.

CHICAGO SUBWAY TRANSFER.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—All property, contracts, franchises, rights and privileges of the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph company were yesterday transferred to the Illinois Tunnel company, which was incorporated several months ago for that purpose. Attorneys who drew up and carried through the reorganization plan filed the incorporation papers, paying the largest incorporation fee on record in this state, and handled the transfer of the property.

The new company is deemed $30,000,000 worth of property and assets. The record of the transfer of the underground property is the largest property transfer ever filed in Cook county. The deeds cover twenty miles of underground tunnels now complete, a telephone system comprising 4,300 automatic telephones now installed and facilities for 25,000 more automatic telephones to be used for the business center before July 1. It also includes the rights under the franchise granted by the city council to carry freight in cars underground, as well as the former stock and bond issues of the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph company. It was announced to day that the capital stock would now be increased in the new company and that a deal involving over $20,000,000 would be financed.

WILL MARCH AGAINST PANAMA.

Panama, Jan. 29.—News has reached here from Bogota that such men as Gekelid Reyes and Cayllero have assured Colombia that the United States will only object to her landing forces in the canal zone, the Colombian government intends to organize and send an expedition against Panama. The only explanation of this news from Bogota is that the government of Colombia is compelled to take some steps to prevent its downfall. This is said to be imminent, as President Marroquin has lost all prestige he ever had. There is much speculation in Bogota as to the outcome of this move, and it is put through. People arriving here from Colombia declare the situation in that country is growing worse every day.

THE POSTAL TRIAL.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The third week of the postal trial closed to day and indications now are the case will go to the jury at the end of next week. The defense to day sought to show by a number of witnesses that orders for Groff fasteners were sent out in the ordinary official routine and that it was impossible for a chief of bureau, with the multiplicity of details such as are attached to the rapidly growing rural free delivery service, to give personal attention to all mail and other official matters.

IDENTIFIES ASSAILANT.

Carbondale, Ill., Jan. 29.—The search of a week for the man who attempted to assault Miss Eva Kavanaugh succeeded late last night when Chief of Police J. J. Robutson captured him in this city. He was completely identified by the girl.

He gave his name as John Vaughn and is a half-breed negro. He has resided here since last May, coming from Fulton, Ky. He discussed his case quite freely, but stoutly denies his guilt. Miss Kavanaugh has partially recovered from her experience. She comes of a prominent St. Louis family and resided for years on Cabanne avenue.

INDICTMENT QUASHED.

St. Paul, Jan. 29.—The supreme court to day quashed the indictment against former Mayor Ames, of Minneapolis, convicted of receiving money illegally while mayor. The court held the indictment was good, but that the offense was not proven.

The decision technically and practically makes Ames a free man now. He cannot be tried again except on a new indictment.

WAITING FOR SPRING TRADE

INCREASED ACTIVITY THEN LOOKED FOR

Business Curtailed Somewhat at Present by High Prices for Leading Staples—Dun's and Bradstreets' Reviews.

New York, Jan. 29.—Dun's report says: Business conditions would be most satisfactory if the present high prices for leading staples were the result of wholesale demand, but the prominence of manipulation prevents such gratifying conclusions. Aside from lines temporarily stimulated by the severe weather, trade is quiet and evidences of increased activity with the approach of spring are hopelessly awaited. Reports of building outlook indicate that the high cost of materials and labor has curtailed operations, although 1903 showed a good gain over 1902. Demand for lumber is gradually improving, stocks in yards are light as a rule promise a large cut. Weather conditions are favorable for winter wheat. Optimistic reports are numerous regarding the iron and steel industry. Anticipations of rapid recovery with the advent of a new year are not yet realized, although it is still hoped that new business cannot be much longer delayed. Orders for steel rails are lamentably small, and railroads stubbornly waiting for concessions in prices. Buyers of cotton goods have at last begun to exhibit anxiety regarding the situation and they find it increasingly difficult to secure prompt delivery, while prices are steadily appreciating. Jobbing and retail trade in this line is steadily improving, which indicates that supplies in the hands of dealers are becoming depleted. New lines of men's wear woollens have been opened, but demand has proved slow. Eastern shoe manufacturers are receiving liberal fall orders from wholesalers at the west and south.

Failures this week 202 in the United States, against 243 last year.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Bradstreet says: Weather conditions have been unfavorable through a wide area and have rather sharply checked spring trade and retarded transportation. There is a rather quiet feeling found also in several lines of speculation and of industries. Spring trade, which was opening actively in the southwest, has been brought practically to a stand still for the time being by zero weather. Rather less satisfactory reports come from the iron and steel trade. Southern iron is claimed to be unchanged, but northern iron is weaker. Structural material is quiet and some markets are reported cutting bill prices. Hardware markets are reported almost as quiet as a year ago. Buyers of cotton goods have shown a disposition to trade more freely and pay higher prices, but sellers are slow to fill orders "at value." Building is practically suspended at a number of cities and lumber is quiet.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week were 2,680,000 bushels, against 2,000,000 this week last year; July 1 to 1903, 28,720,000, against 14,692,000 last season. Corn exports for the week 1,493,000 bushels, against 2,045,000 a year ago; July 1 to date 23,467,000, against 20,536,000 last season.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED.

Milwaukee, Jan. 29.—Archbishop Milwaukee announced to day the appointment of Rev. August Schnier as vicar general and Rev. Joseph J. Fox as administrator of the Green Bay diocese. Bishops Messmer, Els and Schwebe at a meeting to day selected the names of candidates to succeed to the bishopric of Green Bay. The names, which will be sent to Rome, will be kept secret. The opinion of the clergy is Very Rev. Fox will be the first choice.

GERMANY'S WAR.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—A dispatch from Lieutenant Ziewel, in command of German forces at Okahandja, German Southwest Africa, says Kaffirs have effected a junction with Hereros who are besieging that fort. In two engagements on the 29th and 31st Germans had twelve killed and four wounded. The enemy lost twenty-five killed. Ziewel says he can hold out some time yet. The dispatch causes concern at the colonial office here.

CALLED ON TO RESIST.

London, Jan. 29.—Plearesses inclining the populace to rise and resist foreign aggression are being circulated in the province of Hunan, China, according to the Globe's Shanghai correspondent. The correspondent says the movement possibly portends a national outbreak.

WORE CARNATIONS.

Washington, Jan. 29.—A carnation adorned the coat of nearly every member of the house to day in commemoration of the late President McKinley's birthday.

GETTING RID OF WHEAT.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 29.—As a result of the freight rate war in grain indications are that within the next fortnight it is likely the state will be pretty thoroughly drained of the wheat which has been stored in the state.

GREETINGS ACROSS SEA

Banqueters in New York and London Exchange Messages by Cable.

London, Jan. 29.—While the American branch of the Pilgrims' society was giving its dinner to night at Delmonico's in New York in honor of Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, British ambassador, the English branch of the society celebrated the occurrence with a supper at the Carlton hotel. A unique feature was the installation of cable instruments at one end of the supper room, by means of which frequent messages were exchanged, so that the English pilgrims felt almost as much in touch with the New York celebration as though they had been actually present.

New York, Jan. 29.—The interchanges of cable messages of good will with English pilgrims at supper at the Carlton hotel, London, formed a striking feature of the banquet given at Delmonico's to night by the pilgrims of the United States in honor of Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, British ambassador.

Bishop Potter cabled Lord Roberts greeting, to which Roberts sent a suitable reply. Morris K. Josp sent a cable to Lord Brassey, as did Gen. Joseph Wheeler to Earl Roberts. Ambassador Choate sent cordial greetings to Ambassador Durand.

Bishop Potter read a message of regret from President Roosevelt and a complimentary cable from Sir Thomas Lipton. Ambassador Durand delivered an address in harmony with the objects of the pilgrims' society. Other speakers were former Attorney General Griggs and James M. Beckwood.

INDIANS MAY MAKE TROUBLE.

Guthrie, O. T., Jan. 29.—From Fort Gibson, I. T., to day is reported the fact that John West, captain of Indian police, with a squad of his men, passed through on his way to Greenleaf mountains, where the Keetovahs are concentrating. Parties in on the train from Bragg report a big bunch of Indians gathering there. They refuse to explain their presence. A party of seven hunters from this place are in the Greenleaf mountains. The last time they were heard from they were in the section that is now occupied by the Indians. During the past three days it has been impossible to hear from them and the police are growing uneasy. The Indians say they are gathering to clean out the half-breeds, who, they claim, have been aiding the government in allotment of lands. If Captain West does not locate the party of hunters by morning a posse of men will be sent out to reinforce him.

PANIC DURING FIRE

Women Become Frightened and Attempt to Jump Out of Window of Chicago Building

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Fire to day on the fifth floor of the Cosmopolitan building, adjoining the Masonic temple, caused a number of women to become hysterical. Some of them attempted to jump from windows, but were prevented by cooler heads. Herma Verba was fatally burned by the explosion of chemicals which caused the fire. Several others were slightly burned.

Edward Stokes, who assisted in the rescue of Miss Verba, was probably fatally burned. Of thirty-five people on the floor when the fire started twenty-four were girls and women. Loss, $75,000.

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.

Milwaukee, Jan. 29.—Supervisor Charles Bottenburg was arrested late this afternoon on an indictment charging him with perjury. The present grand jury completes its work to morrow night and will be succeeded by a new jury, which will continue investigation of alleged irregularities in city and county affairs. It is said the result of the present jury's work will return fully seventy-five indictments, most of which are for alleged petty "grafting."

MURDERER HANGED.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 29.—Harry D. Egbert, who murdered John G. Saxton and John West last October, was hanged here to day. Egbert made a brief speech on the scaffold. "My friends," he said, "take me as a mark and keep your children off the street and above all out of the saloons. Bad raising and bad company is the direct cause of my downfall."

BANK CLEARINGS.

New York, Jan. 29.—Total bank clearings compiled by Bradstreet's for the past week were $1,164,123, an increase of 1.2 per cent compared with the corresponding week last year.

BANK OFFICIALS UNDER BOND.

Morehead, Minn., Jan. 29.—E. E. Carver, of Buffalo Center, and E. Hudson, of Gellerton, respectively president and cashier of the defunct Clay County bank of Fulton, Minn., were held to the grand jury in $10,000 each and charged with receiving stolen goods.

THE BEDFORD MURDER MYSTERY.

Bedford, Ind., Jan. 29.—Officers investigating the murder mystery now seem to pin their faith to the theory that a well known man of Bedford murdered Miss Schuster, that he was known to her, that he forced his attentions upon her and that he was the person who shot her.

REPLY WILL BE SATISFACTORY

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY BRITISH AMBASSADOR

Information Given Out Relative to Russia's Answer to Japan's Latest Note—Reply Expected to be Delivered Today.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The Associated Press has the authority of the British ambassador at St. Petersburg for the announcement that the Russian reply which, it is expected, will be delivered to morrow, is satisfactory. Although no further details are obtainable, it is assumed if the information of the ambassador is correct Russia has made certain concessions and that Great Britain will prevail on Japan to accept them as satisfactory. The statement of the British ambassador went from St. Petersburg to the British legation in Tokio, where Grigorov heard of it, and enabled the news to the state department, the cablegram arriving over night.

REPORT DENIED.

London, Jan. 29.—Japanese Minister Hayashi to day denied the report published by the Graphic to the effect Russia's reply to Japan was completed Wednesday; that it had been communicated to the Japanese minister at St. Petersburg, and that it was unfavorable. The reply had not yet been sent and it will only be submitted for the czar's approval to day.

Paris, Jan. 29.—It is said in official circles here Russia will not answer Japan until she feels reasonably assured the answer will not have the effect of precipitating hostilities.

G. A. R. TO CHANGE DATE.

Springfield, Jan. 29.—The Illinois state encampment of the G. A. R. will not be held in Springfield May 12, as arranged, if statements made by men high in the councils of the G. A. R. be correct. When the administrative council of the department of Illinois, G. A. R., met in January and fixed May 12 for the state encampment, it was specified that the date could be changed, provided it should conflict with either the Republican or Democratic state conventions. The Republican state central committee, at its meeting here Wednesday, established May 12 as the date of the Republican state convention, and hence the understanding that the G. A. R. encampment date will be changed. Commander Benson Wood, of Effingham, and Assistant Adjutant General Partridge, of Chicago, have jurisdiction over the encampment date and will wait until after the meeting of the Democratic state central committee, Feb. 3, to decide the date of holding the G. A. R. encampment.

FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Kansas City, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Lulu Prince Kennedy Kramer, on trial the second time for the murder of her first husband, Philip H. Kennedy, was found not guilty to day. At the first trial she was convicted and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary.

The verdict of acquittal was found solely on the ground Mrs. Kennedy was insane when she shot her husband. The jury found the defendant has since regained her sanity, which will save her from being sent to an asylum.

MISS PILCHER DISCHARGED.

Miller, S. D., Jan. 29.—Hattie Pilcher, the school teacher who has been under arrest, charged with complicity in druging Wilbur Quirk and attempting to rob Collins' drug store, has been discharged from custody as the result of her preliminary hearing. The prosecution was unable to connect her with the Quirk case.

BURNED IN HOME.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 29.—Willie Elkins, 4-year-old son of Ora Elkins, was burned to death to day in a fire which destroyed their home. Basil Elkins, 6 years old, was fatally and Mrs. Elkins and 3-month-old baby seriously burned. The fire was caused by a defective gas connection, which Mrs. Elkins was trying to remedy at the time the fire started.

BODIES RECOVERED.

Pittsburg, Jan. 29.—When the work of recovering bodies from the Harwick mine stopped this evening the remains of 120 victims had been taken out. It is estimated twenty or more are buried under the extensive fall of slate brought down by the explosion and it will be several days before they can be recovered.

REWARD FOR MURDERS.

Constantinople, Jan. 29.—The porte has notified the Russian and Austrian embassies Macedonian committees have arranged with Albanians for liberal rewards to have them kill every foreign officer sent into provinces in connection with reorganization of governments under the reform scheme of the powers.

HONOR MCKINLEY

Birthday of Martyr President Celebrated at New Haven and Topeka.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 29.—Men of distinction in business, political and social life of this state were guests to night at the banquet of the McKinley Association of Connecticut. Nearly 300 covers were laid. President Gaffey read a telegram from Senator Hanna expressing regret at inability to be present and his sympathy with commemoration of the birthday of McKinley. Gaffey also read a letter from George B. Cortelyou, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, in which Cortelyou paid a tribute to President McKinley.

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, of New York, spoke on McKinley and the Spanish-American war. Speaking of American expansion, Woodford predicted the time is near at hand when San Domingo "must become ours" and that sometime the American dominion will extend from the Panama canal to the Arctic sea.

AT TOPEKA.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 29.—The principal feature of the annual banquet of the Kansas Day club, an organization of young Republicans, was the address of Lafayette Young, editor of the Des Moines Capital. Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—United States Senator Penrose was the guest of honor at a dinner here to night given by the Pennsylvania State League of Republican Clubs. Referring to the Panama canal treaty, he said:

"The treaty will be confirmed within a short time. Democratic senators will break upon the issue and a sufficient number will vote with the Republican party to confirm the treaty by a safe majority."

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 29.—The Omaha McKinley club to night celebrated the birth of William McKinley with a banquet at which Governor Van Sant of Minnesota, Governor Mickey of Nebraska, Lieutenant General McGilton of Lincoln, Edward Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee, Murat Halstead of Cincinnati, Hon. John L. Webster, Nebraska's candidate for president, and General Cowen of the Omaha Record were guests. Webster responded to the toast, "The Republican Party," Halstead to "The President of the United States," and Van Sant to "People and Railroads."

STEERS ARE DISCUSSED.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 29.—A meat-cutting and judging demonstration was the feature of to day's session of the Illinois Livestock Breeders' association at the University of Illinois. It was conducted by Messrs. Samuel T. White and James Cozzens, of Chicago, assisted by expert cutters. Eleven steers, ranging from prime to medium canners, which had been purchased in Chicago and fattened on exactly the same rations on the university farm, were slaughtered and their good and defective points were shown by Messrs. White and Cozzens. Carcasses of mutton and pork were also used as object lessons and the subjects of good breeding and correct feeding were lectured upon by Professor Mumford and other members of the college of agriculture faculty.

WILL LOCK OUT EMPLOYEES.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—One hundred shops controlled by the Carriage and Wagon Manufacturers' association will be closed Monday and 2,000 men belonging to the Carriage and Wagon Workers' union will be locked out. This decision came to night as a climax to the negotiations that have been in progress during the last week between the two organizations. The men demanded a reduction of two hours in working hours in a week and increases in pay running from 10 to 25 per cent. Employers declared it to be impossible to grant the demands and insisted that the union must forego them and consent to the "open shop" by Friday night or a lockout would commence Monday. The men refused to accept the proposition of the employers and the lockout will follow.

MUST APPEAR IN COURT.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—E. N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, has been cited to appear in court to morrow morning and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. Nockels was called before the grand jury to day to give evidence concerning alleged acts of lawlessness committed during recent strikes in this city and was told to bring books and records of the federation. He refused and told the grand jury he had no intention of obeying the order.

SENATOR ARRESTED.

Milwaukee, Jan. 29.—State Senator Barney Eaton was arrested to night on an indictment charging him with accepting a bribe of $100 in connection with legislation on the barbers' license law enacted at the last session of the legislature.

AMERICAN BILLIARDIST DEFEATED.

Paris, Jan. 29.—By a narrow margin of four points Wagnan, the French player, defeated Button, the American, in a billiard contest here to night and consequently retaining the championship of the world.

SENTENCED TO PRISON.

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 29.—Harry West, an actor of Chicago, who shot and killed John Walsh in this city in December last, was to day sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary.

COAL MINERS AND OPERATORS

HOLD JOINT CONFERENCE AT INDIANAPOLIS

Operators Ask for a Reduction of Fifteen Per Cent in Scale for the Year—The Demands of the Miners.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—At a joint conference of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and western Pennsylvania coal operators and miners to day the demands of operators were presented in the form of a resolution declaring in view of the financial depression there should be a reduction of 15 per cent in the scale for the year. The miners' demands, which were presented by John Mitchell, are for absolute run of mine basis for the entire competitive field and flat differential of 7 cents between pick and machine mining; that pick prices per ton shall remain equivalent to the present scale; that all internal differences shall be referred to districts affected for adjustment, and that there be a uniform scale for outside day labor.

Arguments were then begun, those speaking for the miners being President Mitchell, Vice President Lewis and Secretary Wilson. The operators were represented by H. L. Robbins, W. S. Bogie and Mr. Chapman, of Ohio. A motion to admit the commissioners from outlying districts, particularly from Iowa, to the meeting of the joint scale committee elicited discussion and was defeated.

TURNED BACK

Hostile Indians of Panama Set Out to surprise a U. S. Gunboat, but Fail.

Colon, Jan. 29.—The United States gunboat Bancroft arrived here to day from the San Blas coast. She reports that the attitude of the San Blas Indians at Cartagena bay to be not only unfriendly but decidedly aggressive. Last Tuesday men from one of the Bancroft's boats insisted upon purchasing a few coconuts from Indians and paid more than full value for them. Toward 11 o'clock that night twenty canoes were seen approaching the Bancroft. The gunboat turned her searchlights on the canoes and it was revealed that each carried as many Indians as could crowd in, probably 200 in all. All were armed with bows and arrows, guns of quaint and old patterns and other weapons. Their faces were besmeared with paint. There is no doubt their intentions were hostile. They hoped to reach and surprise the ship.

The commander of the Bancroft ordered the gunboat cleared for action and her guns were loaded and trimmed ready for use. A quick-firing Colt gun was placed near the gangway, and orders given the gunners of this piece to keep up a ceaseless fire all around the canoes. As soon as the Indians heard this rain of bullets they immediately retreated toward the shore. The gunners were given express orders not to fire at the Indians, so the bullets went in the air and churned up the water all around them. No shots were fired at the Bancroft, which at once sailed for Colon to bring the report of the occurrence.

GIRLS POISONED.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—Seven girls belonging to a cooking school at Darmstadt are dead and six others are dying from poisoning which resulted from partaking of a dish made of canned beans and meat. Inquiry into the occurrence is being made. Up to the present the investigation has failed to define the exact nature of the poison which brought about such fatal results, although it is now thought that allanto-toxium, or sausage poison, was the cause.

READ THIS.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 14, 1891.—For twelve years I have suffered from great diabetes, and have spent hundreds of dollars with various doctors, with but little benefit. I was recommended to try a bottle of Texas Wonder, all about diabetes, and will certainly testify to the fact that it did me more good than all other things put together, and am also a great benefactor to many. I have presented copies of my testimonial to the following:

AN UNWELCOME EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Chas. Hopper Tells of Recent Trip to St. Louis, Minn. R. R.
Incident of Her Life and Long Search.

The following is an account of an experience which recently befell Mrs. Chas. Hopper of this city during a visit to St. Louis. This article was written by Mrs. Hopper and the Journal is kindly permitted to publish it as follows:

On my return home one Saturday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, I was informed that St. Louis wished to speak to me. I immediately went to the nearest long distance 'phone, at my neighbor's.

I called up St. Louis and was soon talking to my brother-in-law (who lives in Kansas), who told me that on account of the death of a personal friend of his, he accompanied by his wife (my sister) were in St. Louis and would be until Monday afternoon. They were visiting at Mrs. B's and if I could come to be with my sister she would be glad to see me.

If you can imagine my many thoughts while at the telephone, really I think all the wheels were moving in my head at once. I thought, When does the first train go? Am I missing it by talking here? Will my husband say for me to go? You could not wonder that I forgot at what street he told me to get off the car and any one could direct me to Mrs. B's.

He did not give me the street and number and my sister said she cautioned him to do that. He said he thought he told me Mr. B's Christian name, anyway I did not remember anything but the two street car lines which he told me to take. I couldn't tell him whether or not I could come, as I didn't then know. When I ceased talking to him I telephoned to my husband to see what he thought; he kindly said I could go. Then I found out the afternoon train had gone about an hour before and the next train would leave at 11:40 p. m.

The more I thought about it the more I wanted to go; so although my knowledge was meagre, I decided to make the trip for I knew I could find my way home again, even if I could not find them. I sent a dispatch and also a special delivery letter, both in care of Mrs. B., but as there are plenty of people of that name in the city, they did not reach their destination; the letter came back to me after a trip to the dead letter office and the dispatch I didn't take the trouble to inquire about.

My husband accompanied me to the depot and watched me board the train. After we were at the depot we found out that there was quite a wait at a station not an hour's ride away. Anyhow I had started to go, so I went and was soon landed in the depot at St. Louis.

Here I had different kinds of company, first a young lady who used to live in my home place and was coming back for a visit, she only stayed a small part of my long wait as her train came along soon. After her departure I wasn't on speaking terms with any of the other inmates of the depot. I was well entertained by my fellow travelers, who being more fortunate than I, soon rolled off into the arms of Morpheus and there were many sounds as if sleeping companions. They assumed different postures, some with heads back and mouths open, others bent until I should have thought their necks ached. One young American kept up pretty lively until about 4 o'clock before he could be still enough to go to sleep. He disturbed not the sleepers, nor me, for I could not sleep.

The depot at first was lighted by an electric light, which at a certain hour became dimmer and dimmer until it went out and left us all the same color. Then a kind man who was paid for his kindness, came in and we learned the purpose of a large lamp suspended from the ceiling. When the gray dawn began to appear so did the train and I was glad to get on and finish the rest of the trip, not knowing the pleasures in store for me.

Prepared for all kinds of Illinois weather I had with me a mackintosh cape, a jacket, an umbrella besides my indispensable grip, and then I also found it necessary to hold my dress as I had no train bearer. Then, equipped I landed in the St. Louis depot and after waiting a little while to see if my brother-in-law was there I made my way to the bureau of information, where the young man seemed to have enough to do, sometimes several telephone bells ringing at the same time. However I told him my story in snatches as I had a chance told him what I knew and what I would like to know, the latter being more important than the former. I asked him if he could tell me what Mr. B. lived in the direction which my two street car lines would take me. I had to read the names in him as the directory was stationary outside. I read several names and finally he said, "Yes, that one lives out that way," so I took two addresses as he directed and boldly started out. It was now a hot sunny Sunday morning and I did not feel quite at home in my present occupation. I soon found the street and number which I had written down. I thought "easy enough," but when a gentle man answered my ring and said, "Yes Mr. B. used to live here but does not now," my spirits fell faster than a thermometer did that morning. In conversation with him I found out that Mr. B. was 70 years old, and then I knew he wasn't the one I was hunting. I felt as if I must get a new trail and nearly also a new train (dress).

In my journey on the street car I noticed we passed near the church which my sister used to attend, and upon inquiry I found it was about ten minutes' walk and as Sunday school was just beginning I thought perhaps some one could tell me something.

I wended my weary way thither and requested a young man at the door to tell the superintendent that I would like to see him. I soon found that this was the church where my sister and her husband had belonged, when in the city, but they could not tell me what family of B.'s they visited. Another gentleman was also quizzed as to his knowledge.

I thought then that I would go back to the drug store which I saw on the corner, and consult the directory. I was fortunate in knowing both the name and business of the late friend of my brother-in-law, and so could locate his residence. I had no trouble in getting his number on Olive street. I thought that I could hear something at any rate from members of the family living there.

Then after being up all night and the weather so warm I thought I probably would look fresher if I should don one of my fresh waists in my grip. I saw a kindly looking lady sitting on the door steps, holding a baby, and I asked her if I could go in and change my waist. She said "yes," then seeing my train like look (I suppose), she hesitated and said, "Did you just come from the train? Well I am very careful on account of baby, even when my husband comes off the train I am afraid." I said good bye and then walked on thinking how a homeless creature feels alone in the selfish world.

In passing a bake shop I noticed two women in conversation, I stepped in and asked them the same question. One lady said, "Yes you may, but here is a bar back there and a man's there." I thought that decided me in favor of my present condition, so I trudged on to find my car, which was not long in coming. I soon arrived at the house where I noticed a knock and I made bold to knock and make inquiry as to my brother-in-law's whereabouts and was informed by my delight that he, as well as my sister and little girl were there. I was kindly ushered in with no inquiries as to my appearance.

It would express it but mildly to say I was overjoyed beyond measure and a very great load seemed to be suddenly lifted from me.

I was very fortunate indeed to get here when I did for in fifteen minutes they would have been gone.

I had a very pleasant visit and did not regret the efforts I had put forth in order to see my sister, but the next time I get a telephone message from St. Louis of like import, I shall use my woman's talent by asking questions and say "What is the man's Christian name? What is his business? What is his street and number."

A REGISTERED DRUGGIST SPEAKS.

Mr. Homer Alvey, registered pharmacist and manager of the West Side drug store, Lincoln, Ill., speaking of a medicine advertised in our columns says: "I have sold Hart's Honey and Horehound for two years and regard it as a medicine of exceptional merit for the cure of Croup, Whooping Cough, and La Grippe." For children Hart's Honey and Horehound is undoubtedly the safest and best, as it contains no opium or other narcotics and is pleasant to take. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles sold by Lee P. Allcott.

ANTI-LEAP YEAR CLUB.

Members Must Not Accept Proposals From Young Women.

Thirteen bachelors in the village of Noble, Adams county, have formed an anti-leap year club, says a Gettysburg (Pa.) dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. It is presided over by its promoter, John Cover.

No member will be permitted to accept invitations to leap year parties or receive leap year courtesies from young women, and the members are bound to decline leap year proposals of marriage. If any member of the club marries during the year he will be obliged to give a banquet to the members.

Coeled a High Kick.

How high can a coed kick? This question is vexing the athletic department of the Chicago university. The men's high kick for ten years is registered. The women's record is withheld, but the holder of the record has been discovered, says a Chicago dispatch. She is Miss Lucinda Buck. President Harper has omitted her record in his report. Miss Buck is small, but her friends say she tossed her toe six feet eight inches.

Druggists guarantee every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to anyone who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for a cold, croup, whooping cough, and whooping cough, and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

THE PERPETUAL WAR

There is always a fight going on in every human body between health and disease. On one side are poor food, bad air, over-work, worry, colds, accidents. On the other are sunshine, rest, cheerfulness and nourishment.

The reason Scott's Emulsion fights so powerfully for health is because it gives so much more nourishment than you can get in any other way. Get in the sunlight and try Scott's Emulsion.

TYPICAL WESTERN WIFE.

How Oklahoma Governor's Helpmate Accepted a Position For Him.

The Tonakwa (Okla.) News directs attention to the fact that Mrs. Thomas B. Ferguson, wife of the governor, is the dean of the newspaper women of the territory.

Mrs. Ferguson is associate editor of her husband's newspaper, the Watonga Republican, and she now and then not only assumes complete control over its columns, but in case her husband is absent when he should be present she acts for him and in his name, even in political matters of importance, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

For example, Mrs. Ferguson was engaged recently in writing an editorial article on "The Open Door to the Orient" when a telegram addressed to her husband was laid on her desk. On opening the dispatch she found that it was from Washington, that it announced the appointment of her husband to the governorship of the territory and that it asked him whether he would accept the place.

Without a moment's delay Mrs. Ferguson picked up a telegraph blank, wrote a message of thanks and acceptance, signed her husband's name to it and sent it on its way. When the editor in chief returned from a hunting trip or a collection tour or from soliciting advertisements in surrounding towns he found that his wife had attended to everything for him much more promptly and satisfactorily perhaps than he could have attended to it himself.

It is hardly worth while for the Tonakwa News to remark that Mrs. Ferguson is an ambitious woman. That goes without saying. She is one of those western women who are never content until they make something out of their husbands. There have been a great many of them, and some of them who have achieved their ends have had a great deal poorer material to work with than the present "first lady of Oklahoma."

The many friends of G. H. Hausan, engineer on the L. E. & W. R. R., at present living in Lima, Ohio, will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. He writes: "I was cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure, which I recommended to all, especially trainmen who are usually similarly afflicted." Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

GORDON AND REBEL YELLS.

Confederate Leader's Impressions of the First He Heard.

The experiences of the late General John B. Gordon, the Confederate leader, are graphically set forth in his "Reminiscences of the Civil War," published by Charles Scribner's Sons. He was mining coal in the mountains of three states—Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama—when the war came, and he raised a company of volunteers. They wore coonskin caps and were called the Raccoon Roughs and became famous.

"Once in camp, we kept the wires hot with telegrams to governors of other states, imploring them to give us a chance. Governor Moore of Alabama finally responded, graciously consenting to incorporate the captain of the Raccoon Roughs and his coon capped company into one of the regiments soon to be organized."

"The reading of this telegram evoked from my men the first wild rebel yell it was my fortune to hear. Even then it was weird and thrilling. Through all the stages of my subsequent promotions and in all the battles in which I was engaged this same exhilarating shout from these same trumpet-like throats rang in my ears, growing fainter and fainter as these heroic men became fewer and fewer at the end of each bloody day's work, and when the last hour of the war came, in the last desperate charge at Appomattox, the few and broken remnants of the Raccoon Roughs were still near their first captain's side, cheering him with the dying echoes of that first yell in the Atlanta camp."

AY-DITOR'S RECOMMENDATION.

Mr. H. J. Keeler, publisher of the Press, Maiden Rock, Wis., writes, "Allow me to say that I have recently used a bottle of Hart's Honey and Horehound and found it a valuable remedy for a cold or cough. I have personally recommended it in several cases and hear a good word from all. When our readers need a reliable medicine for Colds, Coughs, Croup and Whooping Cough there is no other so satisfactory as Hart's Honey and Horehound. Large bottles 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Lee P. Allcott."

GEN. GORDON IN BATTLE

Reminiscences of the Old Confederate Soldier.

ODD EXPERIENCE AT WINCHESTER

His Description of a Feeling That Was akin to a Presentiment—A Curious Process of Reasoning as He Lay Wounded on the Battlefield of Sharpsburg.

The war experiences of the late General John B. Gordon, the Confederate leader, are graphically set forth in his "Reminiscences of the Civil War," published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

In his account of the beginning of the Bull Run engagement General Gordon says of General Ewell, the Indian fighter, who at the last moment went over to the Confederacy: "He became a very pious man in his later years, but at this time he was not choice in his manner of expressing himself. He asked me to take a hasty breakfast with him just before he expected the order from Beauregard to ford Bull Run and rush upon McDowell's left."

"His verbal invitation was in these words: 'Come and eat a cracker with me. We will breakfast together here and dine together in hell.' To a young officer like myself, who had never been under fire except at long range, on scouting excursions or on the skirmish line, such an invitation was not inspiring or appetizing, but Ewell's spirits seemed to be in a flutter of exaltation."

"An hour later, after I had been recalled from my perilous movement to 'feel of the enemy,' I found General Ewell, as I have said, almost frenzied with anxiety over the nonarrival of the anticipated order to move to the attack. He directed me to send to him at once a mounted man 'with sense enough to go and find out what was the matter.' I ordered a member of the governor's horse guard to report immediately to General Ewell."

"As for myself," says General Gordon, "I was never in a battle without realizing that every moment might be my last, but I never had a presentiment of certain death at a given time or in a particular battle. There did come to me on one occasion a feeling that was akin to a presentiment. It was, however, the result of my supposed perception of certain coming fate, but an unbidden, unwelcome calculation of chances suggested by the peculiar circumstances in which I found myself at the time."

"It was at Winchester, in the valley of Virginia. My command was lying almost in the shadow of a frowning fortress in front, in which General Milroy of the Union army was strongly entrenched with forces which we had been fighting during the afternoon. In the dim twilight, with the glimmer of his bayonets and brass howitzers still discernible, I received an order to storm the fortress at daylight the next morning."

"To say that I was astounded at the order would feebly express the sensation which its reading produced, for on either side of the fort was an open country, miles in width, through which Confederate troops could easily pass around and to the rear of the fort, cutting off General Milroy from the base of his supplies and thus forcing him to retire and meet us in the open field. There was nothing for me to do, however, but to obey the order."

"As in the night I planned the assault and thought of the dreadful slaughter that awaited my men, there came to me, as I have stated, a calculation as to chances which resulted in the conclusion that I had not one chance in a thousand to live through it. The weary hours of the night had nearly passed, and by the dim light of my bivouac fire I wrote with pencil what I supposed was my last letter to Mrs. Gordon, who, as usual, was near me. I summoned my quartermaster, whose duties did not call him into the fight, and gave him the letter, with directions to deliver it to Mrs. Gordon after I was dead."

"Mounting my horse, my men now ready, I spoke to them briefly and encouraged them to go with me into the fort. Before the dawn we were moving and soon ascending the long slope. At every moment I expected the storm of shell and ball that would end many a life, my own among them, but on we swept and into the fort, to find not a soldier there! It had been evacuated during the night."

In speaking about a wound received in the cheek at the battle of Sharpsburg General Gordon told a curious story which illustrates a feature of his character, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. It is the fact that Gordon never lost his head and that he could think under any circumstances. Said General Gordon:

"While I lay there wounded on the field my mind went through a curious process of reasoning. I thought I had been struck by a cannon ball, and I said to myself: 'I have been struck in the head with a six pound solid shot. It has carried away my head. I can feel that there is a little piece of the skull left on the left side, but my brain must be gone entirely. Therefore, I am dead. And yet I am thinking, and how can a man think with his head shot off? And if I am thinking I cannot be dead. And yet no man can live after his head is shot off. Still, I may have consciousness after I am dead, but my body cannot have action. Now, if I can lift my leg, then it must be that I am alive. I will try that. Can I? Yes, I can. I see it rising. I am not dead after all. And with that I sat up and found that my head was still on, but I reasoned as philosophical and logically over the matter as I could. I was in my own mind."

Relief for Women.

No. 18 Central Ave.
HOT SPRINGS, ARK., April 30, 1908.

Eighteen months ago I was so completely run down that my body ached from head to foot. My back seemed to break in two and I suffered intense pain in the lower abdomen. I could not afford to lay off and take a rest, and no medicine helped me any.

A friend told me how much Wine of Cardui built her up and advised me by all means to take it. The day I took the first dose the recovery of my health began. It was nearly three months before I was entirely cured, but at the end of that time I was in better health than I had been for seven years.

I look on Wine of Cardui as the most blessed medicine that a woman could possibly take when she feels sick and tired of life.

Anna Nelson
CHICAGO, WEDNESDAY CHICAGO CLUB.

WINE of CARDUI

Mrs. Nelson describes the condition of thousands of women. That condition comes by slow stages. Usually the important function of menstruation is at first slightly irregular. Then comes the painful periods. Bearing-down pains and ovarian inflammation follow. Finally the nervous system gives way and the whole system has become affected and the pains rack the body from head to foot.

Wine of Cardui is a menstrual regulator of established reputation. No woman who takes it suffers as Mrs. Nelson suffered. It gives speedy and complete relief from the torturing menstrual agonies which are making so many women invalids today. Do not let yourself come to the pitiable condition Mrs. Nelson describes.

Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today and begin treatment immediately.

He said in Michigan the laws are stringent on that subject and if a person does such a thing he is apt to be called down and if unmindful of the suggestion, he will in due time be invited to go to a lively stable and pay a bill for the animal's care. It wouldn't be amiss if some such custom or statute prevailed here.

A gentleman called the attention of a Journal reporter yesterday to the fact that frequently during the cold weather a person will leave a horse hitched to a post and frequently wholly unprotected at that too, sometimes after the animal has been driven until warm and sweaty. He said in Michigan the laws are stringent on that subject and if a person does such a thing he is apt to be called down and if unmindful of the suggestion, he will in due time be invited to go to a lively stable and pay a bill for the animal's care. It wouldn't be amiss if some such custom or statute prevailed here.

SOUTH SIDE CIRCLE.

The South Side circle met at the home of James Follansbee, on South Main street Friday afternoon and considered the pertinent topic of "Trusts."

The subject was treated in a most comprehensive manner by Miss Amanda Bercraft. She was assisted by Miss Jennie Beecraft who considered "A Lesson to Rulers," by Lord Macaulay.

A history of the Northern Securities case was tersely given by Mrs. William Robertson. "Where the Word Trust is Properly Used," was the subject of a paper read by Mrs. Albert Baldwin.

The meeting was one of the most interesting held this year and the splendid character of the papers showed the most careful preparation on the part of the leader and her assistants.

At the close of the literary program delicious refreshments were served by the hostess who was assisted by Miss Alice Hayes.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Miss Ida Goodrick.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rodersheimer were very pleasantly surprised Thursday evening by the members of the Court of Honor who descended upon them and proceeded to make themselves at home. Cards were enjoyed during the evening and delicious refreshments were served. All present spent a most delightful time and the genuineness of the surprise added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Swaby, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Meyers and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood, Arthur Thorne, Miss Lou Crabb, Carl Frame, Miss Ella Brown, Henry Walters, Chas. Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McGlosin, Miss Bertha McGlosin, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sutter, Miss Julia Murray, Miss Margaret Mofolant, Mrs. Perry White, Miss Lulu Hopper and Miss Grace Simms.

HAVE WAGON FACTORY.

Kinderhook, over in Pike county, is to have a wagon factory. The factory is incorporated for $25,000, with a paid up stock of $15,000. It will have an output of 1500 wagons per year. The pay roll per month will amount to $1,200 to $1,300.

AN OLD BOOK.

Speaking of old books, the Broadlands paper has the following regarding a gentleman born here and a member of the class of '68: Illinois college:

G. C. Barber, living west of town, after reading an article in the Kansas City Times about a geography published in 1819, looked up some of his old books and found a geography published in 1801. The geography was compiled by Jedidiah Morse, D. D., published at Boston by I. Thomas and E. T. Andrews. The book is 3x5 inches, wooden back, bound in paper and contains 144 pages. Although well preserved it shows signs of much usage and is free from marks, aside from the yellowness of age and the name Zeehariah Felton on the fly leaf in ink. The book treats of ancient and modern geography also.

It gave the population of America, which was thinly inhabited at that time, fifty million, of these the greater part were Indians whose ancestors were the original inhabitants.

Mr. Barber has Murray's English Grammar printed by H. Mann & Co. published 1815. A spelling book published by James A. Morgan & Co. 1841, all of which show signs of old age.

ILLINOIS GOVERNORS

Ages and Nativity of the Twenty Men Who Have Been Chief Executive of the State.

Illinois has had twenty governors since its admission into the Union in 1818. Three of them were only 26 years old at the time of their inauguration, one was over 60 years old. The list, with the age at the time of inauguration, is as follows:

Name	Age
Shardach Bond	40
Edward Coles	36
Ninian Edwards	21
John Reynolds	41
W. L. D. Ewing	36
Joseph Duncan	44
Thomas Carlin	59
Thomas Ford	42
Aug. C. French	38
J. A. Matteson	45
William H. Bissell	46
John Wood	62
Richard Yates, Sr.	43
R. J. Oglesby	41
John M. Palmer	52
John L. Beveridge	49
Shelby M. Cullom	48
John M. Hamilton	36
Joseph W. Efler	47
John P. Altgeld	45
John R. Tanner	53
Richard Yates, Jr.	49

Ninian Edwards, the third governor, was also the first territorial governor, having been appointed to that office in 1809 at the age of 31 years.

The nativity of our governors is also a matter of interest. Bond and Edwards were natives of Maryland; Coles and Efler of Virginia; Reynolds and Ford of Pennsylvania; Ewing, Duncan, Carlin, Yates, Sr., Oglesby, Palmer and Cullom of Kentucky; French, Matteson, Bissell, Wood and Beveridge of New York; Hamilton of Ohio; Tanner of Indiana; Yates, Jr., of Illinois; Altgeld of Prussia.

CARNATION DAY.
Friday, Jan. 29, was carnation day, a day set apart as a memorial day for the martyred president William McKinley. It is a beautiful custom and in a most simple manner pays a tender and affectionate tribute to memory of a man who as citizen, soldier, husband and president represented the highest type of noble and courageous manhood.

The day has been observed but three times, but each year it has assumed a deeper and larger significance and bids fair to increase with the years. In these days of harsh commercialism and oftentimes savage business antagonism it is well to observe a custom of this kind which is a reminder of the unselfish and lofty character of a man whose admiration challenged the world.

Locally the carnation on the coat lapel was much in evidence and there were many who took this means of showing reverence to William McKinley, who will live in history as one of the greatest statesmen and God-fearing men American civilization has produced.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE.

The preliminary debate for choosing the debating team to represent the high school in its debates with Mt. Sterling and Springfield was held in the high school auditorium Friday evening. The question under discussion was: "Resolved, That the United States was not justified in recognizing the government of Panama."

The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Whitney, Massey and Rook, and the negative by Messrs. Graves, Peckham and Spruit. Both sides showed deep study in the consideration of the subject. After a close contest the judges awarded the ability to the affirmative. The judges were considerably perplexed in choosing the representative team, but finally decided that Messrs. Whitney, Spruit and Peckham had the highest averages in argument and delivery. The judges were Rev. R. F. Thrapp, Judge C. A. Barnes and Miss Pitts.

SIGMA PI SOCIETY.

At the meeting of the Sigma Pi society last night the program was as follows: Readers—Orear, "Connors, McFee and Cook"; McKinney, "The Runaways"; Essayist—F. S. Carriel, "Russian-Japanese Question"; Extemporaneous—Brooks, "The Republican Love Feast."

Debate: "Resolved, That the currency of the country should be regulated by the government in order to render greater elasticity." Affirmative, Brown, Spencer and Stevenson; negative, Harmon, Scott and Bell. The merits and ability were given to the affirmative. Just before the debate President Widger delivered his inaugural address, which was an excellent effort.

AS TO PRIMARIES

Governor Yates and Mr. Rannells Exchange Letters

The following is a copy of the original proposition which was sent to Gov. Richard Yates Friday by Hon. Chas. S. Rannells, candidate for state treasurer, relative to the conduct of the primaries soon to be held in Morgan county.

Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 29, 1904.
Hon. Richard Yates, Springfield, Ill.
Dear Sir:

You are doubtless aware that I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of state treasurer, as I am that you are a candidate for the nomination for governor.

It must be assumed that we have in view not only our own candidacies, but also the best interests of the Republican party. Nothing causes so much bad feeling and contributes so much to party defeat as unfair primaries. You have recognized this fact in your message to the general assembly and in your speech before the recent "love feast." You said: "Why not have the primaries held on a common day?" "It would keep every politician at home and the walking deleterious who goes about telling those in other counties how to run their counties would be out of a job." The principle which you here announce as desirable for the entire state is certainly desirable for this county. When primaries are held at different times "walking delegates" and repeaters can, and often do, go from precinct to precinct, and the honest sentiments of the Republican voters are not recorded. It is desirable in political matters not only to avoid fraud, but also the appearance and opportunity of fraud.

I do not wish the support of the delegates from this county to the state convention, unless my candidacy receives the approval of a majority of the Republican voters of this county, honestly expressed, and I assume the same is true as to yourself.

Therefore, in order to secure absolutely fair primaries, I submit to you the following proposition for the conduct of the same:

1. That we immediately unite, in a request to the Republican central committee of this county to call for the same day and hour all primaries in this county for the selection of delegates to the county convention, such primaries to be governed by the existing primary election laws of this state, except as modified by agreement between us in accordance with the terms of this letter.
2. That we each select one judge and clerk for the primary to be held in each precinct, and that the member of the county central committee for the precinct select the third judge.
3. That we each select one challenger for each precinct.
4. That in case either of us is unable to act in person in this matter, he shall designate in writing some citizen of this county to act for him.
5. That the expenses of said primary shall be paid in either of the following ways, as you may elect: 1st, each of us shall pay one-half; or, 2d, the successful party shall pay them all; or, 3d, the defeated party shall pay them all.
6. That the name of Richard Yates, as Republican candidate for governor and that of Charles S. Rannells, as Republican candidate for state treasurer shall be printed on all tickets, with a square in front of each name. Such tickets shall be furnished by the county central committee to all precincts, and the voters shall vote directly on such candidates by placing a cross in the appropriate square. The printing and distributing of ballots and the voting thereon shall be in conformity with the provisions of the Australian Ballot law which will insure absolute secrecy, and still further deprive the political "walking delegate" of his functions.

The candidate receiving the highest number of votes from the entire county shall be declared the candidate from this county for the office of governor or state treasurer, as the case may be, and he shall be empowered to select the delegates from this county to the state convention.

The chairman and secretary of the county convention shall tabulate the returns from the precincts, and certify to the convention the results of such primaries, as returned by the judges of the several precincts, and shall give the delegates to the state convention the proper credentials.

7. That the Republican central committee of this county, in making its call for primaries, shall be requested to designate a time during the primary when the Republicans present shall select delegates to the county convention; for the purpose of selecting delegates to the congressional and senatorial conventions, and such other duties as may properly come before the county convention, except the selection of delegates to the state convention.

8. Although I am a member of the county central committee, I have to day for the first time learned that the central committee has been called to meet tomorrow, at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of calling the Republican county convention. I shall therefore send this letter to you by the hand of a special messenger, and in order that you may have an opportunity to signify your wishes before the committee acts.

As you are aware that a majority of the central committee are your friends, there can be no doubt that they will respect whatever request you may make concerning the primaries. Yours respectfully,
Charles S. Rannells.

GOV. YATES REPLY.
The following is a copy of the reply sent to Mr. Rannells by Governor Yates.

Springfield, Jan. 29, '04.
Hon. Chas. S. Rannells, Dear Sir:

Your proposition is satisfactory to me, and I am willing to accept so far as I am concerned, but the decision must rest with the Republicans of Morgan county, acting through the county central committee, over which I have no control, and to which I cannot dictate.

Respectfully,
Richard Yates.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Friday's program at the meeting of the State Historical society in Bloomington was as follows:

A TRAVELING MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Mr. Albert Eldredge, representing the Edgar Printing Co., Paris, Ill., says: "I used Harts' Honey and Horchound during the winter of 1901 and 1902 for a bad cold and la grippe. I found it an excellent medicine, which effected a cure in a short time." Our readers are invited to call on the druggist named below and secure a large sample bottle of this excellent medicine free. 25c, 50c and $1 bottles sold by Leo P. Alcott.

BILLIARD TABLES FOR K. OF P.

The Knights of Pythias lodges, Jacksonville No. 152 and Favorite No. 376, have arranged for the installation of billiard and pool tables in the new hall on the north side of the square. There will be two tables of standard make and handsome design. They have already been purchased and will be ready for use in a week or ten days. Hereafter every member of both lodges will have a key to the lodge rooms, so that access can be had at any time.

The prevention of consumption is entirely a question of commencing the proper treatment in time. Nothing is so well adapted to ward off fatal lung troubles as Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

For Clean Comforters.

Many housewives complain about washing bed comforters, as the cotton gets stiff and quite lumpy. I never wash a bed comforter, says a correspondent in an exchange. Make a slip of pretty calico or saten the same size as the comforter, just as you would make a pillow slip, hem the open end and when finished have it about two inches longer than the comforter. Now slip it over the comforter, fold the hems over each other and baste down with long stitches. The other three sides tack to position about four inches from the edge. When soiled it is but the work of a few minutes to take off the slip, and after it is laundered it is quickly replaced. By doing this one can always have soft and clean comforters. It is no extra expense, as the slip saves wear and tear on the comforters and makes them almost everlasting. I also have slips on my mattresses, and by doing so mattresses that I have had for years are as clean as when new.

To Keep Out Insects.

Cereals should be emptied in their proper receptacles of tin or glass and closely covered to prevent insects getting in. Coffee should go immediately into an airtight canister in order to keep its aroma. Olive oil should be put into a cool, dark place and salt, soap and cheese in dry places.

RUBBER GOODS

There is no need of "looking around." Come straight to our store and you can get exactly what you want at the lowest prices. Face bags, ice bags, hot water bags, atomizers, medicine droppers, complexion brushes, rubber gloves for protecting the hands while doing housework, ladies' syringes, bulb syringes, fountain syringes, bathing caps and dozens of other useful rubber articles. Give us your trade and we will serve you well.

The work on the Jacksonville & Concord railroad is fast nearing completion and it is possible the first train will be run over the new road Feb. 2, at any rate not later than Feb. 5.

As already announced this will mean in many ways additional railroad advantages for this city. The local J. & St. L. passenger train instead of stopping here will continue the run to Concord, connecting there with the Burlington train for Beards town. This train will remain in Concord until the arrival of the south bound train, which reaches Concord at 1:25. It will then return to this city and remain until 3:30, leaving at the same time as under the present schedule.

OUTCLASSED.

San Francisco, Jan. 29.—Exhausted at the end of the fourteenth round Kid Broad, of Cleveland, abandoned his contest with Eddie Hanlon of San Francisco, and the referee awarded the contest to the Californian. Hanlon gave Broad a terrible punching about the body. The winner fought a fast and aggressive battle and directed most of his blows against the body of his opponent. Broad proved his capacity for absorbing punishment to be great, but his showing against Hanlon was of inferior order and all though the fourteen rounds Hanlon was in fine condition and rarely received a blow that even pained or hurt him, with the exception of one blow on the eye which split the lid open and for a moment caused him confusion. Broad was apparently outclassed.

RURAL DELIVERY

Special Agent Bennett Will Be Here Soon to Take up Question of Complete County Service.

George A. Bennett, of Chicago, special mail delivery agent, was in the city Thursday on business with Postmaster E. C. Kreider relative to county service for Morgan county.

It will be remembered that Mr. Bennett spent some weeks here several months ago when the county was arranged in districts for this purpose. Later, however, the department refused to inaugurate the service because the number of families on the proposed routes did not comply with the provisions of the statute.

Mr. Bennett announced that he would return to Jacksonville in a week, when he would take the matter up again in the hope of rearranging the routes as heretofore mapped out and thus bring them within the provisions of the statute.

It is hoped that this may be accomplished and that in the near future Morgan county will have a complete mail delivery service reaching all the inhabitants of the county daily.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

FIRE ON SQUARE

Ceiling in Basement of Osborne Building Caught Fire From Furnace—Damage Not Great.

Fire was discovered by Policeman Wm. Braner in the basement of the Osborne building occupied by the Brunswick bowling alley Saturday morning at 12:30 o'clock. He sounded the police fire alarm of three whistles and was answered by Captain Kennedy on the north side of the square, who ran at once to the city hall and turned in the alarm. The firemen responded promptly and to this fact is due the easy control of what might have proved a serious fire.

Policeman Braner detected the smell of smoke as he was coming up East State street and as he entered the square the smell grew stronger and stronger. He turned south and when he came to the Osborne building smoke was issuing through the basement grating on the north side and from the doors and cellarway just south on Mauvaisterre street.

The fire was located in the basement and the firemen made their way through the dense smoke which issued forth in volumes as soon as the cellar door was opened, as best they could. The rafters in the cellar were covered with three-fourth sheeting and this was on fire just above the furnace. The flames were easily extinguished and no water was turned into the main part of the building. An effort was made to turn on the lights on the first and second stories of the building, but after a vain search it was discovered that the building was lighted by gasoline.

Chief LaBoyteaux is satisfied the fire must have originated from the furnace as the sheeting and two joist directly over the furnace were burned through eth floor just under the raised platform of the bowling alley.

The furnace is located ten feet from the west cellarway and sets ten inches below the ceiling and the top is covered with sand. Despite this fact the heat seems to have been sufficient to have caused the fire. The damage to the building will be slight.

ABANDON FREE SILVER.

Des Moines, Jan. 29.—"No fight should be made in the next state convention or in the national convention for reaffirmation of the 16 to 1 plank of the Kansas City platform."

This statement was issued to night twenty-five leaders of the silver and Bryan wing of the Democratic party in Iowa. It was declared to be the consensus of opinion of those present. It was the unanimous opinion, however, that the platform of the national convention "should be written by friends and supporters of the last national platform and those who believe in its essential principles aside from the 16 to 1 plank."

MANY DECIDING

Great Interest in the Union Revival Services—Evangelist Jordan Talks of Repentance.

The Friday evening service at State Street church was well attended and at the close of the sermon much spiritual interest was manifested, many remaining for the after service.

Rev. Mr. Jordan chose for his text the thought of repentance and he said in part:

"Fear is not repentance. Its consequences here and its consequences hereafter do not lead one to seriously consider his conduct in life. Repentance is not sorrow or remorse. A man may almost weep his eyes out and yet go down into that dark gulf with no hope and no promise. In the Harrison street police station in Chicago at one of the meetings held there, eight women whose interest in those meetings brought better remorse to their souls and in anguish and fear they seemed to tremble for the terrible doom which they knew awaited them, yet their crimes were often repeated. Their remorse did not drive them to decision. The only cure, the only relief, is found in the Lord Jesus. Individual resolve never holds one against the recurrence of his sins, though often he may be sad and repentant. Faith without works is death. Faith if it does not inwardly believe will profit nothing."

"Repentance is the complete forsaking of every evil influence that may be an example to another and lead him from the paths of right living and right thinking. Sin winds itself about the soul of man slowly but surely, until it crushes out his life. You remember the young man in the Bible who kept all the commandments from his youth up, yet let selfishness crush out his life. One sin not repented for will bar you from the kingdom of heaven for all time. A man may drag his filthy self into the best society in many of our cities and his nerve may get for him a standing among the people, but a man will never slip into heaven nor will his nerve ever bring him into the favor of the Lord. But what shall you repent? Turn away from the path of sin that your right influence may turn others into the better way and bring happiness and peace where there might come sorrow and despair."

One of the best meetings for Sunday is the 3 p. m. meeting for young people. At this meeting there will be special singing and music. Dr. Jordan will speak on "The Ideal Young Man." The young people are especially invited to be present at this meeting. If you were there last Sunday be sure to come again and bring some one with you.

At the evening service Sunday, the Rev. C. G. Jordan will speak on "The Greatest Wage Prayer in America." Prof. Butts will sing.

CHILDREN'S MEETING. Yesterday afternoon a large band of school children gathered in State Street church to listen to Prof. Butts. His theme was the Crucifixion of Christ. A rather difficult subject one might think for children but by his description and many forcible illustrations sent the truth home to their comprehension. They manifested close interest and when asked if they wished another meeting next Friday, their vote was enthusiastically unanimous.

POVERTY IN JAPAN.

Wretchedness in Darkest Tokyo as Seen by an Englishman.

MAJORITY TOO POOR TO EAT RICE.

High Grade Product Exported—Almost to the Last Sack—Natives Live in Tumbledown Sheds, With Decayed Walls Full of Cracks—Several Families Live Together For Economy and Warmth—Pawnbrokers and Quilt Renters Plunder the Poor.

Deeper than ever plummet sounded in the ocean of poverty and human woe have I descended here in the metropolis of the far east and found the world's poorest poor, writes the Tokyo correspondent of the London Mail in Japan. Beside these starved subjects of the Son of Heaven, who cower outside his palace walls, the submerged tenth of London are bons vivants and the groveling Russians of Gorky's night refuges the spoiled children of fortune. What I have seen I doubt if any occidental has seen before me, for the existence of such absolute wretchedness is not revealed to the tourist, and the ordinary resident suspects it not at all. If he has heard some whisper of the dolorous regions near at hand it is not regarded as polite to be too inquiring. Not by any possible chance will the guide or friend conduct the visitor to the quarters where joy is life's unknown quantity.

Slumming in Tokyo is for the regulation traveler the same as in London he went to Soho without exploring the east. None but regions of comparative prosperity are shown, because the Japanese are proud of their universal reputation for cleanliness, for artistic surroundings and for a poverty that is always smiling, well washed and safely removed from actual want. Nevertheless, Tokyo and other cities have their social purgatories, their sargasso seas of living. Breathing wreck and drift. In Tokyo not fewer than 200,000 people seldom, if ever, know of a certainty where the necessities of the next day will come from, and throughout the land the great majority are too poor to eat rice. The high grade rice grown in the islands is exported almost to the last sack and inferior rice imported for those who can afford it. Rice is not in every bowl as the tourists fondly imagine.

I have spent days and nights in the midst of this inexpressible residue of Japan in company with a brilliant native sociologist who, like scores of his fellow students of men and things, believes that Japan has left its good days of general happiness and general comfort forever behind and is entering upon a sordid and merciless age of industrialism, in which its people are not fitted by temperament to compete and whose proletariat is, moreover, far too intelligent and too proud to be exploited by capital. He is crying out a warning to Japan that her seat at the council table of the powers is being paid for in the blood of her citizens, not expended as they would pour it forth cheerfully in war, but in factory and on farm, in shop and in office.

"Think for a moment," he cried recently as we looked at a Japanese bathhouse in the offing, "what a multitude of our tiny rice fields it takes to support such a monster and then remember that our people cannot afford to eat rice!"

But, whether the last state of Japan be worse than her first, let us proceed to darkest Tokyo. We will visit the beautiful Ueno park. Tokyo is so vast, it is such an immense sea of sheds, that from the highest point on the clearest day one can see but a fraction of its area, but here are fifteen districts of mean streets. The crazy structures called houses, which are in reality sheds, are strung along in a series of dilapidated and filthy compartments. To folk as poor as those who live here, cleanliness, so dear to the average Japanese that it is above godliness, is out of the question.

The walls are decayed and full of crevices and cracks, the roof leaks, and there are moss and broken tiles. The shops are full of holes or patched with newspapers. The mats are ragged, dirty and moldy. There is foul water in the streets and a still fouler stench in the air, whose source is often visible to the eye. Frequently one sees dead rats in the roadway, but for fear of the plague they are quickly made away with. After coming from the daintiness and delightful artistry of well-to-do Tokyo, Shitaya is the abomination of desolation.

The most tumbledown of these abodes may be rented for from 20 to 25 pence per month, but there are houses so fine that they cost as high as a penny or even 3 halfpence a day. To afford one of these expensive residences several families club together, not alone for economy, but also for warmth, in winter all hands crowding together on the mats. Charcoal is not always to be afforded, and heat is a great luxury these cold days. A whole block will sometimes take turns in warming hands at a hibachi wherein a few chunks of charcoal smolder in a bed of ashes. The pawnbrokers fatten off these wretches as in no other land. It is impossible to escape them, and they never relent. Anything that cost above fivepence can be pawned!

Until the early winter, or even until midwinter, one can exist in Shitaya without bedclothing, but when the nights get cold, with the fearful piercing frost of a Japanese winter, some covering must be had. Now appears another plunderer of the poor in the guise of the capitalist, who rents quilts by the night. He charges and invariably collects from 1 farthing for a shred of dirty, patched old rag to a penny or even twopence for a foul but heavy covering. Then, too, there are frayed, silk quilts for bridal couples, but these are too costly to be rented by many bridegrooms. Rent must be paid in advance, and before the family go to sleep the collector comes and gets either the money or the quilt. With a refinement of cruelty he does not appear until the lessee has turned in and the loss of his covering will be doubly felt. There are heartrending scenes when penniless mothers strive to hold the quilt to protect their babes from the chill and damp. Like the pawnbroker and the money lender, the quilt lender is ditty hearted.

Few of the inhabitants of Shitaya ever get enough money ahead to buy bedclothing, and the ghastly tragedy of renting is re-enacted again and again winter after winter. Where there are so many children having but a few cotton rags the winter means acute misery.

Nothing that was ever edible can become too bad for the very poor to use. From this and similar quarters the scavengers go forth daily searching for food, and they take the city as with a comb. Back they come at night laden with bad rice, decayed fish and meat, scraps from slop barrels, broken food from restaurants and all manner of queer odds and ends. This secondhand food business has an extensive language of its own, with special terms for every kind and condition of edible junk that is brought to the quarter. This jargon is wholly unintelligible to the uninitiated, and few there are who care to learn the language of the freezing and starving who rent rags and dine on offal.

Poverty has its ultimate expression in Tokyo—its last word.

CHAMBERLAIN AT WORK.

British Statesman Is Always Busy and Works Far into the Night.

Apart from his occasional attention to gardening Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the ex-colonial secretary of England, is probably as busy when at Highbury as during his heaviest official work, says F. A. Acland in the Booklovers' Magazine. His correspondence and public duties have rather increased than otherwise with his relinquishment of official life. Two hundred letters on an average are received by him each day. All are read and answered personally with the aid of a private secretary and competent shorthand writers. This correspondence has to be dealt with most carefully, for artful opponents are forever laying cunning traps for the Birmingham statesman, and too faithful friends are but little less troublesome with their suggestions and counsels.

The house is beset with newspaper correspondents, with whom Mr. Chamberlain is always popular. He talks freely with them and fully appreciates the power and influence of the press, yet no correspondent has ever extracted a secret from him. He works far into the night, parliamentary life having accustomed him to late hours. Three in the morning often finds him still at his desk. His speeches are carefully prepared and are privately declaimed to his secretary the day before delivery, the statesman meanwhile smoldering a briar pipe or a fat, black cigar.

THE GOSPEL OF EPICURUS.

President Hyde of Bowdoin College Urges Merit of Its Teachings.

President Hyde of Bowdoin college addressed the Twentieth Century club at Boston the other day on "Epicureanism" and condemned the life wasted by low aim and luxurious living. He asked:

"Have we ever stopped to think how much there is in epicureanism which we not only might but which we ought to adopt? Epicureanism is essentially a gospel, not only a pleasure, but also of play, and most of our games are the means of relief work, which Epicurus sanctions. The man who goes on working without giving a considerable period of play is selling his great birthright of personality for a mess of commercial pottage.

"On the other hand, the doctrine is not without its shortcomings, and the lectures to come will show us that there are sterner, broader, deeper standards of living than those of Epicurus. Without the background of devotion to domestic and natural life epicureanism is only a parasite on the complete individual and social life."

No Arms Round Their Waists.

The Chicago Business Women's club has organized a dancing class. Only young women are invited—young business women, says a Chicago dispatch. The club proposes at the threshold of leap year to teach its members how to dance in a fashion which will preclude the necessity of men. It is claimed that no dance is aesthetic in which the young woman's waist must be belted by the masculine arm. No round dance is aesthetic, for they all develop the physique more than the grace of the dancer. The aesthetic dance is quiet, graceful, soulful, and it is intended to develop the natural grace of young women.

London Tradesmen's Society Spies.

"Guinea pig" directors being almost extinct because of the stagnation of company promoting, fashionable out of works are now acting as society spies for London tradesmen, says the New York World. They tell when a man or woman has won or lost considerable at bridge, and the tradesman acts accordingly. The spy also gets to know when a wife is exhausting her husband's patience, and she finds her credit curtailed at the shops. A variety of other information is also conveyed to the tradesmen, who recompense spies liberally.

A Time Saver.
The secret of economy in the kitchen—economy in time, in labor and in expense—has been at least partly solved by a clever Brooklyn housewife, who has invented a table which may be used for all those purposes for which the ordinary kitchen table is generally called into use.

Here is a simple idea, just as it appears, to be a good idea, and doubtless many of her sisters will appreciate the boon which she has consented to share with them. Proceeding with her bread-making, her pie-making, her cake-making, her preserving or what not, the thrifty housewife who is fortunate to possess a table of this character will find at her very fingers' ends all those ingredients that she needs without having to go to cupboard or pantry or elsewhere every minute or so to get some of these necessities.

The table is provided with a liberal assortment of drawers, and, in addition, ample bins are constructed on the table top, access to which is had by means of little doors in the top of the table.

When the work of making bread, etc., is complete all surplus ingredients are swept back into their respective bins through the little doors, and the deed is done.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Staten Island Oyster Pie.

Scald a quart of oysters in their own liquor. When it comes to the boiling point skim out the oysters and set where they will keep hot. Add to the liquor two cups of hot water, season to taste with salt and pepper. Rub two ounces of butter to a paste with two ounces of flour, dilute with a cup of hot milk and add to the broth. Stir and cook until smooth and creamy. Have ready a crust of nice light biscuit dough rolled half an inch thick; cut into squares and drop into the boiling stew. Cover closely and cook thirty minutes. When done take them up carefully and place in a hot dish. Stir the oysters into the broth and when thoroughly hot turn into the dish with the dumplings.

BREVITIES

THE HALL OF FAME.

J. St. John Gaffney of New York will tour the world as much of it as he can—in an automobile.

Former Governor Horace Boies of Iowa lives a retired life on his farm near Eldora. He has aged rapidly since the death of his son.

Mr. Seale-Hoyne, member of the English parliament, left $500,000 to be used for the establishment of a college of science, art and agriculture.

Professor C. R. Lannan, professor of Sanskrit at Harvard, has the finest library of Buddhist literature in the United States if not in the world.

Reed Knox, son of the attorney general, who has been his father's confidential clerk, will devote his time in the future to the Knox farm at Valley Forge.

Count Gionotti is one of the most intimate friends of the king of Italy. His wife, who was formerly a Miss Kinyne of New York, well high reigns supreme at the Italian court.

Arthur Chamberlain of Birmingham, England, a nephew of Joseph Chamberlain, has been touring Canada, partly on business and partly on pleasure. He bears a strong resemblance to the Hon. Joseph and looks and talks like a sharp, shrewd man of business.

W. A. Powers, recently a candidate for delegate to the legislature of Virginia, in reporting his campaign expenses to the secretary of state placed his total outlay at 45 cents, 15 cents of which sum was expended for a dinner for himself and double that sum for a meal for his horse.

Canada's new archivist, A. J. Doughty of Quebec, who succeeds the late Dr. Brynner, is an Englishman by birth and a graduate of Oxford university. He is better known to Americans by his researches into the site of the battle of the plains of Abraham, which gave Canada to the British, than anything else.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Cheridah Simpson has replaced Maud Lillian Berr in the leading role in the "Sultan of Sulu."

M. Edmond Rostand is writing a new play for M. Coquelin which will be produced in Paris at the Gayety early in February.

There is said to be almost as much music in E. H. Sothern's production of "The Proud Prince" as in many grand operas.

Over 1,900 people are on the pay roll of the Nixon & Zimmerman enterprises, 407 of whom draw their salaries from their Philadelphia theaters.

London is to have a visitation from "Uncle Tom's Cabin." At least William Brady is threatening to take an elaborate production of it there in the spring.

Charles Frohman will produce the drama "Cheer, Boys, Cheer," at the New York theater with a number of the actors now in "The Best of Friends."

The dates are Jan. 19, Feb. 2 and 16, March 1 and 15, April 5 and 19. The rate is a little more than half fare, one way or round trip.

Now is the time to get a home of your own while land is cheap. The Southwest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers—a mild, squable climate, short pleasant winters, long growing seasons, cheap cost of living.

Land that will grow wheat, corn, oats, clover, alfalfa, cotton, fruit, and vegetables of nearly every description can be had at prices ranging from $5 to $25 per acre, owing to location, soil and improvements.

Take advantage of some of the above dates and see this great country for yourself.

If you will write us where you want to go, we will tell you the exact cost of your ticket, and send you maps, descriptive literature and help you find a suitable location.

MATHENY & LLOYD.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Jan. 29.—A sharp bulge occurred at the opening due to reports that the crisis in the far east was not far distant. These reports were given emphasis by higher prices of foreign markets. The opening here showed a 1/16% higher at 90 1/2¢, July 16 1/2¢ higher at 32 1/2¢. Buying orders came largely from shorts. For a time there was little on the market. The leader of the longs, however, took the selling side toward the end of the first half hour and was followed by smaller holders, causing a decline of 1/16% from the high point. May, standing around 90 1/2¢, July at 32 1/2¢. The market was dull the remainder of the day. Selling wheat continued to come out on small upturns, but demand was equally good on every reaction. The market was helped by Argentine strike news, small receipts and improved cash demand in the northwest. May closed 3/16¢ better, July gained 5/16¢, Liverpool 3/16¢ lower to 5 1/2¢ higher. On the coast five boat loads were taken.

Corn—The same influences which governed wheat were factors in the corn pit. There was good demand from commission houses and shorts at the start due to reported serious turn of affairs in war circles, and opening showed a gain. On advance there was liberal liquidation by small holders, resulting in reaction. Renewed demand from commission houses late in the day caused another upturn and the close was firm, May 5 1/2¢ higher, Liverpool 1/2¢ lower to 1 1/2¢ higher. At the seaboard seven boat loads were accepted.

Oats—Oats were strong the entire session. Owing to scarcity of offerings trading was not large. There was fair demand from shorts early stimulated by bullish feeling over the foreign situation. As prevailed in other pits, scalpers were principal sellers. Toward the end of the session general demand developed which carried prices still higher and closing figures were at the top. May up 7/16¢.

Re-Shipments.
Flour, bus 15,000 17,000
Wheat, bus 20,000 22,000

LIVESTOCK.
Cattle—Six thousand were received to day and in addition 3,000 were in over last night, making a big supply for Friday. Demand was very poor, prices weak and largely 10¢ lower. Cattle are selling now as low as at the worst time this week with some lots even lower, although receipts for the week are about 9,500 less than last week. Good to prime, $14.00 to $15.00; poor to medium, $12.00 to $13.00; stockers, $12.00 to $13.00; cows, $11.00 to $12.00.
Hogs—Receipts, 35,000. The supply was very large, prices weak and about 10¢ lower. Trade was fairly active on a basis of $14.50 to $15.00. Mixed and butchers, $14.00 to $15.00; good to choice heavy, $15.00 to $16.00; rough heavy, $14.00 to $15.00; light, $14.00 to $15.00.
Sheep—Receipts, 5,000. There was fair general demand at recent decline in prices. Sheep, $15.00 to $16.00; lambs, $14.00 to $15.00.

ST. LOUIS MARKET.
St. Louis, Jan. 29.—Wheat—Cash, 90 1/2¢; May, 85 1/2¢; 90 1/2¢.

Corn—Receipts, 11,000 bu. exports, 11,000. Spot firm; No. 2 yellow, 54¢ elevator and 55¢ f. o. b. afloat; No. 2 yellow, 54¢; No. 2 white, 54 1/2¢. Options closed 1/16¢ net higher; May, 56 1/2¢.
Oats—Receipts, 14,000 bu. exports, 9,000. Spot firm; No. 2 white, 47 1/2¢; standard white, 47 1/2¢ to 47 3/4¢; No. 2 white, 47 1/2¢; track white, 46 1/2¢.

FINANCIAL MARKET.
New York, Jan. 29.—Prices of stocks had a wavering, uncertain movement to day and the market came almost absolutely to a standstill. Undertone was heavy, however, and slight advances at one time attained were indifferently held. Probably the conviction that some sort of crisis was near at hand in the strained situation in the far east helped paralyze speculative activity. Reports of push of food shipments across the continent to the Russian army orders were of some significance as to effect of war upon domestic business here. It is also pointed out that of $2,140,000 which the treasury has contributed to New York banks this week more than three-fourths is on account of Japanese gold deposited in San Francisco. This gold is generally assumed to represent payment for army provisions rather than regular exchange operation. Closing quotations:
Money on call steady at 1 1/2% per cent; closing bid and offered at 1 1/2%. Time loans dull and steady; sixty days at 3 1/2% per cent; ninety days at 3 1/4%; six months at 4 1/4%.
Prime paper at 4 1/2% per cent.
Exchange weak. Demand at 45.00 to 45.50; sixty days at 42.00 to 42.50.
Bar silver at 55 1/2¢.

HINTS ON LONGEVITY.

Don't Fall in Love, Says Mr. Sol Oppenheimer.

"Envy gives birth to slow fevers. Shame produces inflammation of the skin. Hatred is the parent of all manner of chronic diseases. Ambition induces continual restlessness and insomnia. Mental strength and a morbid condition of the arteries and vital organs walk hand in hand. Anxiety may cause jaundice, while prolonged anxiety sometimes causes cancer."

Mr. Sol Oppenheimer delivered himself of these and many similar utterances before the Hundred Year Club in New York, lecturing on "The Relation of Mental Liberty to Longevity."

"To begin with," he declared, "mental slavery is hostile to long life. A certain amount of placidity is as necessary as mental mania is undesirable. Parents should not tell little ones that children should be seen and not heard. The minds of children should be allowed to expand naturally."

"Everything," said Mr. Oppenheimer, "which ennobles the mind strengthens the body. That which debilitates the mind weakens the body. Love shackles the mind, for when a man is smitten with the charms of a young lady he has to agree with her father in politics and her mother in religion. Marriage is one of the worst enslavers."

"The state of being in love is productive of perhaps more physical ills than any other mental condition. The man in love sighs and blows hot and cold. It is very disturbing to his physical being. The maiden blushes. Her pulse is fast, then slow. There are no pangs more bitter than the pangs of disappointed love."

SNATCHED FROM DEATH.

Girl's Escape From Iroquois Theater Disaster in Chicago.

Laverne W. Noyes, a Chicago manufacturer, while recounting recently at the Waldorf some of the incidents of the Iroquois theater disaster in Chicago, said to a reporter of the New York Tribune: "One of the most miraculous and notable escapes from the awful holocaust was that of a daughter of one of my friends. She is a tall and slender girl, which may have been an advantage when the manner of her rescue is considered. She was one of the panic stricken throng that was rushing for the exits, and when the awful crash came she was wedged as it were in the grip of a vase in the mass of struggling humanity and could not move to help herself. The heat of the flames that were behind admonished her that the only way of escape was in front, and that was already blocked by the bodies of the fallen."

"She believed that her last conscious moment was passing, and with a religious impulse she raised her hands and clasped them in an attitude of supplication, while her lips breathed a prayer for help or of self commitment to her Maker. Just at that instant a pair of strong arms were thrust over the wall of dead, and the upraised hands were grasped in those of a sturdy hero, who lifted the fainting girl from her gawsome surroundings and snatched her from the veritable jaws of death. She was saved. Her prayer for succor had been answered, and in the rush and hurry of the work of general rescue he did not even learn the identity of her savior."

WILY GIRL GALLANTS.

Stroudsburg (Pa.) Maidens Intend to Make the Most of Leap Year.

Sixteen well known young ladies of Stroudsburg, Pa., have banded together to give the young men of the town a good time during the present year, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The other evening they started the ball rolling by inviting sixteen young men to a leap year sleighing party. The hostesses bore all the expense. The young men were taken to Craig's Meadows in a large van drawn by four horses. A fine supper awaited the party on its arrival.

So well did the girls prove their gallantry and managing ability that the young men feel that they have to go deep into their pockets to reciprocate. The young women are proud of their success and declare that they will set a pace during their one year of special privileges that the young men will require the next three to catch up with them.

The Bachelor Maids' club, organized about a year ago by ten young women who promised never to marry and to stop chivvying him, has gone to pieces. Most of the members have joined the leap year organization. The members of the latter promise a number of unique affairs during the next twelve months, and society is on the tip of its tongue.

Appendicitis Insurance Policies.

A London appendicitis insurance company now issues special policies guaranteeing to holders all the medical, surgical and nursing expenses up to the amount insured incurred in an attack of this disease.

BAR TO TRAIN WRECKING.

Railway Man Advocates a Death Penalty For the Crime.

POINTS TO PIRACY AS AN EXAMPLE.

W. J. Black of the Santa Fe Declares That Congress Should Make Wrecking of Trains a Crime Against Federal Laws—Says Wreckers Are Dishonest and Deserve No Mercy.

W. J. Black, general passenger agent of the Atchafalpa, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, believes the death penalty should be inflicted on a person who willfully wrecks a railroad train or is in any way an accomplice to the crime, says a Topeka (Kan.) dispatch to the Kansas City Star. To make sure of the certain punishment of train wreckers Mr. Black believes congress ought to make train wrecking a crime against the federal law. He believes the certainty of punishment would deter many men from committing the crime and that certainty lies only in federal jurisdiction.

"Piracy on the high seas," Mr. Black said recently, "has ceased because the nations of the earth have declared that the fate of a pirate is death. Burning merchant ships looted by infamous robbers no longer dot the paths of commerce. The passengers and crews of merchantmen no longer walk the plank, pushed to death by pirates. Ocean travel is safe except for the accidents no human laws can prevent. And yet at one time the pirate was more numerous than the train robber and train wrecker in this country. The people of certain barbarous countries whose seas were traversed by the ships of the world regarded piracy as their most gallant occupation, and desperate men with a grudge against civilization waged war on the innocent carriers of commerce and the travelers that ventured to sail from one port to another."

"But finally piracy on the high seas became a crime against the civilized world. The pirate knows that not only the warships of the country whose vessels he robs will pursue him, but that the navies of the whole world will join in the chase. International law means everything to the traveler on the deep. He is protected not alone by the country whose flag the ship flies, but by the united power of civilization. Not only the passengers on the ship, but the ship itself and the goods and treasure it carries and the owners of the vessel are protected from piracy by international law."

"What international law means to the ocean commerce of the world federal law means or ought to mean to the vast traffic and travel on railways in this country. The lives of the millions of passengers ought not to be denied any means of protection that can be employed. Recently dynamiters threatened to wreck trains unless the railway companies paid them black-mail. The railway companies, in one case at least, kept the threat a secret, and thousands of passengers rode unconscious of the terrible danger. A number of attempts to wreck trains have taken place."

"The train robber is diabolical. He is as near the field incarnate as man can get. He deserves no mercy. Death is too good for him. The train wrecker should be stamped out. It ought to be made as sure death to wreck or rob a train as to attack and loot a ship. The way to do it is to make attacks on the lives of railway passengers an offense against the federal laws, with pursuit by United States officers and the army, if necessary, and with trial in a United States court, and with death meted out by the heavy and inexorable hand of the national power."

"It is well known that criminals fear the federal laws and authority more than the state laws. The element of locality does not exist in the United States courts. Moreover, the United States officers are not handicapped by lack of means. The United States government can pursue an offender to the ends of the earth. The United States is a power, vast, impersonal, inexorable, and the criminal fears it because he respects it. The United States has constitutional power over interstate commerce, and it is exercising that authority over the railway tariffs at this time. Surely the lives of passengers are as important as the freight rates."

"Why not place those lives, so far as protection from the train wrecker and train robber is concerned, under the strong hand of the United States?"

Finished in Five Years.

Charles T. Yerkes is the authority for the statement that the London underground system is now half completed and that it will be entirely finished in about five years. The section from Baker street to Waterloo will be open within a year.

Society in 1904.

If men won't woo and marriage is still somewhat out of date, 'tis thus the unskilled maid may do Who craves the wedding state:

"Dear boy," she'll say, "are you aware This year's fornic is leap, When 'tis my privilege to knock Conventions in a heap?"

"No know the friendship we have had Was just to pass the time, And now I find my thinking roves To the far more sublime."

"Indeed your many qualities Suggest a double home, From all whose sweet companionships My heart would never roam."

"Too sudden! Why, you must have seen I meant to say this thing, And after you have kissed me, dear, We'll go and hunt the ring."

Since men won't woo and marriage is a trifle out of date, The happy leap year comes again, To whom the wedding state.

NEW RADIUM TREATMENT.

Cautious Possibilities of a Salt Solution Exposed to the Metal.

A new use of radium, which is said to make it of benefit as a cure for cancer, consumption and other malignant diseases, is discussed in a recent issue of the New York Medical Journal by Dr. Samuel G. Tracy of New York under the title, "Radium; Induced Radioactivity and Its Therapeutical Possibilities."

Professor Pierre Curie found that after being near radium his clothing would affect delicate instruments for hours afterward. Professor Hammer found that bits of a pasteboard box in which radium had been kept glowed in the dark for six days after the radium was removed. A little experiment brought out the fact that a solution of normal salts is one of the best mediums for manifesting this property, and it is in this form that the author believes the induced radioactivity of radium may be made of practical use in treating disease.

After a tube of radium had stood in a salt solution for twenty-four hours the solution produced a decided effect on photographic plates for more than a week. Its effect on germs was shown by placing grape juice in the presence of a tube of this radio active salt solution. It is said to have been demonstrated that the grape juice would not ferment for a month, even though kept in a hot room with the bottle uncorked. Mold, says Professor Tracy, can be prevented in the same way.

Some of the diseases which are being at present experimented upon with this preparation are superficial cancers, lupus, certain other skin diseases, some forms of blindness, tuberculosis, diphtheria, typhoid, malaria and scarlet fever. The hope is expressed that this treatment will strike at the roots of all these maladies. The solution may be applied externally or internally, it is asserted.

It is also suggested as a spray for catarrhal affections, for use in surgical dressings and as a general antiseptic.

"UDO" FOR WINTER SALAD.

It is a Japanese Plant That May Compete With Lettuce.

"Udo" is the name of a Japanese plant the department of agriculture is trying to introduce into the United States to compete with lettuce as a winter salad, says a Washington dispatch. It has been in cultivation many years in Japan and was probably introduced there from China. It is served in all the tea houses in Japan, its crisp blanched stems being served with salt or boiled with a soy sauce.

The slices of the udo plant are much more crisp than celery and have none of the objectionable stringy fibers of that plant. They have a fresh taste, like the midrib of a lettuce leaf, with a slight but most agreeable suggestion of pine flavor. The tenderest shoots of young celery are not more brittle than the blanched stems of the udo. Properly served udo is a mass of thick white shavings, two to three inches long by a half inch wide, with a brilliant silky luster. It should have a dressing of oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. It is marketable from early November until the 1st of May, and any one familiar with the forcing of asparagus can cultivate it.

PLAYED AS GORDON DIED.

Coincidence That Marked End of Famous Southern General.

While the spirit of General John B. Gordon was passing away down in Miami, Fla., just at 10:05 o'clock the other night, Creator's band at the Grand Opera House in Atlanta was playing a beautiful melody, a blending of "Dixie" and "Maryland, My Maryland," two airs so dear to southern hearts.

The coincidence was remarkable when it is known that the band swung into the strains of "Dixie" and "Maryland, My Maryland" at exactly the moment when General Gordon passed into the great beyond.

The band was interrupted by a dispatch announcing General Gordon's death. Creator read the dispatch from the stage and then fell in a faint. Creator says that the news of Gordon's death while "Dixie" was being played overcame him.

A New Explosive.

A writer in Harper's Weekly describes a new explosive to which the name of manganite has been given. It is said to be not only stronger and safer, but cheaper than dynamite. At some recent trials held at Camp Bay, in South Africa, says the writer, a four ounce cartridge was fired in a hole bored in a rock, with the result that the rock, although it was bedded three feet underground, was torn asunder. In subsequent comparative trials with dynamite made upon rocks and boulders the manganite succeeded in dislodging a block of stone weighing about seven tons. The safety of manganite, it is claimed, has been demonstrated by the most careful tests.

Our Two Chief Crops.

Of all great crops raised throughout practically all of the United States corn stands first and is given a value for the crop year of 1903 of almost $95,000,000. Second of the agricultural products grown in practically all the states comes hay, which crop was estimated to have a value in 1903 of more than $55,000,000.

Revel Name For a Town.

Bullion City is to be the name of a town being built in the Lake Klappan district, a region on the northern borders of British Columbia which is said to give promise of being a second Klondike.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS.

Come to Hundreds of Jacksonville People.

There are days of dizziness; Spells of headache, dizziness, backache; Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders. All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills. Here is proof of it in Jacksonville:

Veteran John Pyatt, who formerly lived at 235 West North street, said: "I was constantly annoyed with aches and pains through the loins and back and rheumatic twinges in my arms and shoulder and too frequent action of the kidney secretions. Often I had attacks of vertigo and dizziness, particularly so if I stooped and attempted to straighten up quickly. All the medicine I tried did not even check the trouble, let alone cure, until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Dr. H. Lee Hatch's drug store. Besides disposing of my aches and pains the general tonic effects of Doan's Kidney Pills are remarkable. I recommend them very highly."

For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

Song in Winter.

When snow lies deep,
O'er field and hill,
When shadows creep
O'er heart and will,

Oh, then rejoice,
Lift up your eyes,
And give glad voice,
For winter flies.

And spring hastens on,
Dost hear her sigh,
Though skies are wan,
'Neath snow and ice?

List how the stream
Sings as it flows,
A summer dream
Hidden neath snows.

As darkest hour
Comes just at dawn,
As bloom fair flowers
In lands forlorn,

So winter's chill
And dreary skies
Mean nearer still
Spring's paradise.

IN BED FOUR WEEKS WITH LA GRIPPE.

We have received the following letter from Roy Kemp, of Angola, Ind.: "I was in bed four weeks with la grippe and I tried many remedies and spent considerable for treatment with physicians, but I received no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar. Two small bottles of this medicine cured me and now I use it exclusively in my family." Take no substitute Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City Drug Store.

DON'T WORRY.

This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is something over which you have no control it is obvious that worrying will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act. When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used. For sale by all druggists.

If you but knew the splendid merit of Foley's Honey and Tar you would never be without it. A dose or two will prevent an attack of pneumonia or la grippe. It may save your life. Sold by J. A. Obermeyer, City drug store.

BALKE-KRUGER.

Henry Balke and Miss Lydia Kruger, a both of Aronville, were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Eugene Schmidt. Both young people and well and favorably known and are highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

They will reside on a farm near Hagner station in Cass county.

AT THE GRAND.

"Sweet Clover" an unusually clever pastoral drama with the scene laid in New England was presented at the Grand Friday evening and local theatre patrons witnessed a performance artistic in its every detail. The cast presenting the wholesome play was an excellent one and remarkably well balanced. The acting without exception was finished and there was a splendid poise that indicated talent and perfect stage direction.

Edna Robb in the part of Lois Holcombe is one of the most brilliant actresses that has appeared upon the local stage. She has a winning presence, a voice sweet and melodious and a dramatic fervor that gives to her acting strength and force while her personal charm and graceful carriage are qualities that appeal to the audience.

Otis B. Thayer in the role of Jerome Holcombe well sustains the demands of this exacting part and in his stage presence one easily recognizes the marks of the talented and finished actor. He represents the sturdy New England farmer, unfamiliar with the affairs of city life and whose rugged honesty and simple manners are in marked contrast with the fashion and style into which his daughter Lois marries when she becomes the bride of El-drige Grosvenor. The play is well mounted and the small audience which was present had the pleasure of seeing one of the best productions that has been staged at the Grand this season.

The next attraction will be "Dolly Varden," Thursday, Feb. 4.

MISS YOUNG'S RECITAL.

An unusually large audience gathered yesterday afternoon at the Woman's college to hear the senior recital of Miss Anne Ayers Young. The program was heard with special pleasure, for each number was given with musicianly excellence. Miss Young, who is a pupil of Miss Kreider, has a contralto voice of particularly sweet, sympathetic quality. She sings with ease and confidence and there is something in the purity of her tones which constantly charms. The program was of such a varied character that it was well calculated to show the voice capabilities of the soloist. The range of subjects was wide, yet each was given with artistic effect. The first selection from Gounod displayed the fine dramatic power of Miss Young's voice and the recitation from the "Messiah" furnished an opportunity for the audience to note especially her tone quality. The ballads too were especially well given and the program as a whole was one which marked Miss Young as a vocalist of exceptional talent. This was the program:

ABC'S OF THE FAR EAST

Facts About the Chrysanthemum Land, which may be Drawn Into War with Russia

From what is the name Japan derived?

From the Chinese I-ih-pen, meaning "sun source," which was given to the country because it lay toward the sun from China. Japan is often called the "Sunrise Kingdom." Its native name is Nihon, a corruption of the Chinese word.

What is Japan and where is it? Japan proper consists of four large islands, three of them lying end to end, off the coast of Corea and Siberia, north of China. Because of its relation to Asia it has been called the England of the Orient.

How large is the Japanese empire? It comprises altogether 161,000 square miles and is a little larger than California, although its population is almost half as large as the United States.

How far is Japan from America? Between 4,000 and 5,000 miles; about fourteen days by steamer.

How far north does it lie as compared with the United States?

It lies between the same parallels of latitude as the Mississippi valley states and its climate varies from that of Minnesota to that of Louisiana, although the extremes of heat and cold are not so great. The southernmost Japanese possessions are tropical, while the main island shows the common aspects of temperate zone.

Is the country mountainous or level? Mountainous. The level ground is only about 12 per cent of the area. A range of high mountains runs through the main island.

Who are the Japanese? They are a mixed race of Mongoloid type, closely related to the Koreans and Chinese.

What are their physical characteristics?

They are of short stature, the men averaging about five feet in height. The average weight of a large number of Young men of Tokio was found to be only 121 pounds.

What are the Japanese traits? The people are intelligent and quick to learn. They are exceedingly courteous and are great lovers of nature. They combine social qualities with keen ability to enjoy life. Their serenity, generosity and unselfishness are strongly marked. Money seeking is not a characteristic.

Are the Japanese justly regarded as an artistic people?

Yes. Aesthetic ideas are widely diffused. The Japanese mechanic is an artisan. Painting has been highly developed. It is more conventional than western art, but has many admirable features, even from the western point of view. Sculpture and carving have been carried on to a high pitch of excellence. The Japanese have made an especial study too, of landscape gardening and the arrangement of flowers.

Are the Japanese fond of flowers? There are many floral festivities in the year. Oct. 9, for instance is chrysanthemum day. Other holidays are devoted to cherry and plum blossom, to the wistaria, the lotus and the morning glory. On these days the country is a vast flower garden.

What is the government? A constitutional monarchy. Up to 1899 it was an autocracy. In that year a constitution was promulgated. The mikado can declare war, make peace and negotiate treaties. He makes laws with the consent of the diet, consisting of a house of peers and a house of representatives. The suffrage is limited to taxpayers. There is a complete system of local self government.

What is the national religion? There is no state religion but most of the people are Buddhists or followers of Shinto. This last is rather a system of life than religion. Its chief instructions are, "Follow your natural impulses and obey the laws." It teaches prayers to deified ancestors and to personified powers of nature. There are about 150,000 nominal Christians in the empire.

What is the condition of education?

It is compulsory. About four and one-half million pupils are in the common schools, 44,000 in technical schools and 3,300 in the universities.

What is Japan's chief industry? Farming is done on a small scale. A small farm of twelve acres is considered large. The average size is two acres.

What are the chief products? Rice, barley, wheat, maize, beans, potatoes and onions. Plum trees, peach trees and cherry trees are cultivated, but for their flowers rather than their fruit. Tea, tobacco and silk worms are important products.

Is the country wealthy?

No. It is very poor. Wages average from sixteen cents a day for coolies and weavers, to thirty-six cents a day for stone masons. Out of every thousand inhabitants it is estimated that only seven make $1,400 a year. Only thirteen men in the country are supposed to have an annual income of over $2,000.

What do the Japanese regard as their mission?

For one thing the awakening of China. They believe that they can be the leaders in Oriental civilization and that China will respond to their leadership, although it would not comprehend a purely western form of culture. Another aim expressed by the president of the bank of Japan is to make the island empire "the grand park of the nations." Japan is to be a nation of artists, "making itself infinitely beautiful and infinitely charming."

CONTINUE ROCK ISLAND SURVEY

R. C. Young and Chief Engineer Darling of the Rock Island, Will go Over the Route on Foot.

Fred Crandall has returned from Alton, where he has been in charge of the teams transporting the Rock Island surveyors. They are now in the big American bottoms, just this side of St. Louis, and it was so muddy that it was impossible to haul them, so they are now footing it. Mr. Crandall tells the following events which will perhaps be welcome news to our readers:

One evening about a week ago Mr. R. C. Young received a telegram from headquarters, saying: "Stop all survey at once and return." Mr. Young read the telegram aloud and said: "I guess it is all off now, boys." In about an hour he received another message saying: "Continue the survey until further orders." This changed things considerably for the corps and the good thing did not stop them alone, for there is not one town along the route to whom the same was not welcome news.

Later Mr. Young received a letter from Head Engineer Darling, of the Rock Island system saying he would be in Alton Monday and from that place he, in company with Mr. Young, would make a trip over the route on foot and determine all necessary points as to its feasibility. Mr. Young now feels confident that the road will be built and that before very long.

The surveyors will either start from Alton and go to Beardstown or vice versa on their trip of locating the line. They are to let Mr. Crandall know which point to proceed from. This time stakes will be driven and this surety looks good. If they build this line they will have another popular stretch of road to add to their already immense system.—Rushville Citizen.
